

A dose of medicine, composed of two pounds of camphor dissolved in three gallons of whisky, was given to Van Amburg's elephant Hannibal, the other day. This dose is about equal to twenty drops of the same mixture to a human being. Of whisky Hannibal is extravagantly fond.